MEET THE FOUNDER

Tyler Janeé Ward

Tyler Janeé, the founder of Study Elsewhere, is fueled by her passion to help underrepresented students gain a global advantage by studying abroad.

Education

While attending Clark Atlanta University, Tyler Janeé studied abroad in Costa Rica which sparked her love of travel and cultural connections across the world.

Upon returning to the U.S, Tyler went on to complete her M.Ed at the University of Nevada, Las Vegas where she entered the education field as a corp member of Teach For America. She joined a diverse team of educators and change-makers committed to educational equity for all students.

Community

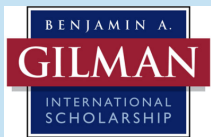

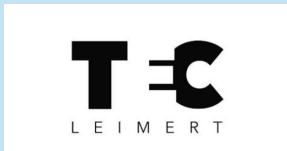

After traveling to over 20 countries by 25 years of age and living abroad in Spain, South Africa, and Costa Rica, she learned how she could make a difference by sharing her story.

She has been invited to speak on the benefits of studying abroad for underrepresented youth at Black College Fairs and high schools across California.
